Do employees face greater risk when they travel on MICE trips? Despite some progress, several gaps remain. Based on new GBTA research, this webinar will discuss risk management of meetings and MICE trips. Learn about key highlights from the study and tips to launch an effective risk program for your meetings and MICE travelers. In partnership with WorldAware.

At the end of the session, participants should be able to:

Learn about how often travel integrate itinerary data from various meeting-specific sources

Learn about how often companies assess risk for the meetings they plan

Learn about safety resources that companies provide to their MICE travelers
