Make the most out of your travel program next year with the latest economic trends, market-leading insights, and industry intelligence that are changing the world of corporate travel. The 2020 Global Travel Forecast uncovers price projections across air, hotel, and ground around the world. Get an inside look into the business travel landscape as you prepare for your 2020 budget and supplier negotiations.

At the end of the session, participants should be able to:

Understand how the global economy and latest trends will impact travel prices for air, hotel, and ground

Identify which markets will see price increases, decreases or remain flat next year

Plan for your 2020 travel program and make the most of your budget
