

HQ's Latest Product Development Provides a Powerful Self-Service Solution for Global Corporate Mobility

New cutting-edge capability provides HQ SummitGround® users with a seamless solution for global ground transportation programs

[DALLAS, TEXAS], [SUNDAY, AUGUST 13, 2023]: HQ, the industry-leading enterprise solution for corporate mobility, announces the launch of its latest product innovation. This cutting-edge development sets a new standard for corporate mobility, offering powerful enterprise capabilities to businesses of all sizes without a time-consuming integration process. HQ SummitGround®'s new seamless self-service solution can be deployed globally with speed and scale for maximum convenience and a wider choice of mobility options.

This next-generation capability removes the friction and complexity of managing multiple domestic and international ground transportation programs. To this end, HQ SummitGround® supports a mobile application and web UI, enabling seamless self-booking and booking on behalf of travelers. With a consistent booking experience globally, clients can effortlessly save employee ride details, frequent addresses, and passenger preferences. Additionally, there is functionality to define and incorporate travel policies based on region, department, and more.

HQ's new product development integrates HQ Connect's highly vetted global network of trusted transportation suppliers without requiring pre-existing supplier relationships or vendor management. This gives customers greater choice with access to a wide range of mobility services, including taxis, private car hires, ride-hailing, and corporate shuttles.

As part of HQ's commitment to spend transparency and cost-savings, all rides can be paid directly by credit card without additional fees or hidden costs. Adding a credit card to the system is straightforward and secure, with various card types accepted, including personal, company, and employee credit cards.

"As the leading corporate mobility platform, this innovation allows our clients to quickly roll out ground transportation programs without a lengthy and technically cumbersome integration process." said Amiad Solomon, CEO, and Co-Founder of HQ, "The easy-to-use self-service solution provides world-class enterprise capabilities to companies of any size with customizable controls, live ride updates, and spend and sustainability reporting. Most importantly, all companies can now benefit from HQ's stringent security standards, competitive ride prices, and the HQ Connect global supplier network."
